The Way We Were at Inman High School was very much affected by national happenings. News of the death of star performers like Elvis Presley & Bing Crosby brought sorrow to our hearts. Many of us enjoyed listening to their music. But in 1978 we also enjoyed performers like Barry Manilow, Boston, Chicago, Kiss, and K.C. and the Sunshine band just to name a few. Music performers weren't the only ones who brought entertainment to us. Movies like Star Wars, Close Encounters of the Third Kind, The Deep, Heroes and The Turning Point, were all entertaining to us, to name a few.

Living in a rural community brought the effects of the Agriculture Strike. The strike affected the school by filling the parking lot with farm trucks.

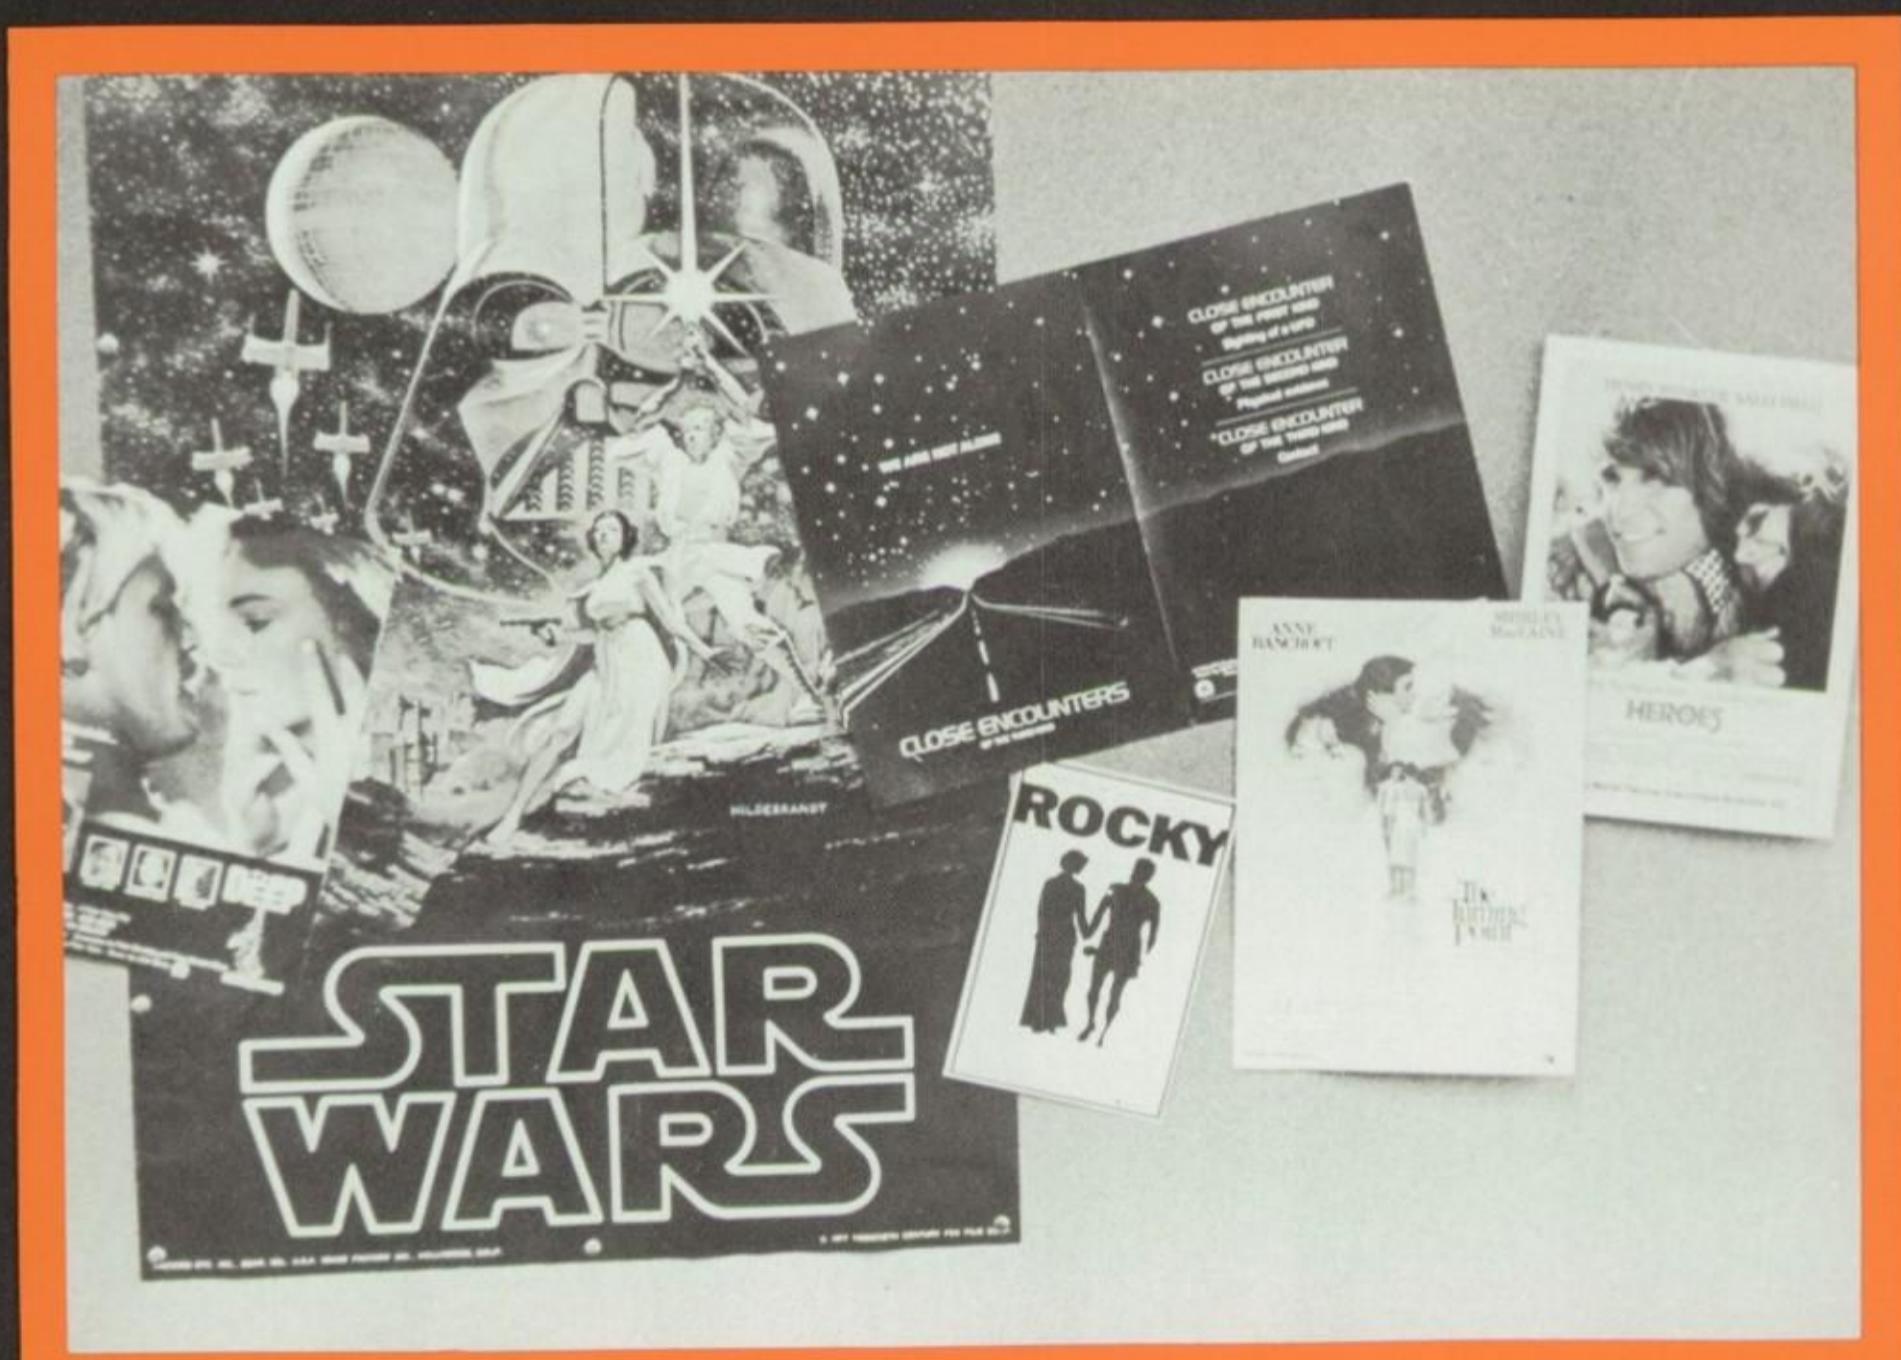

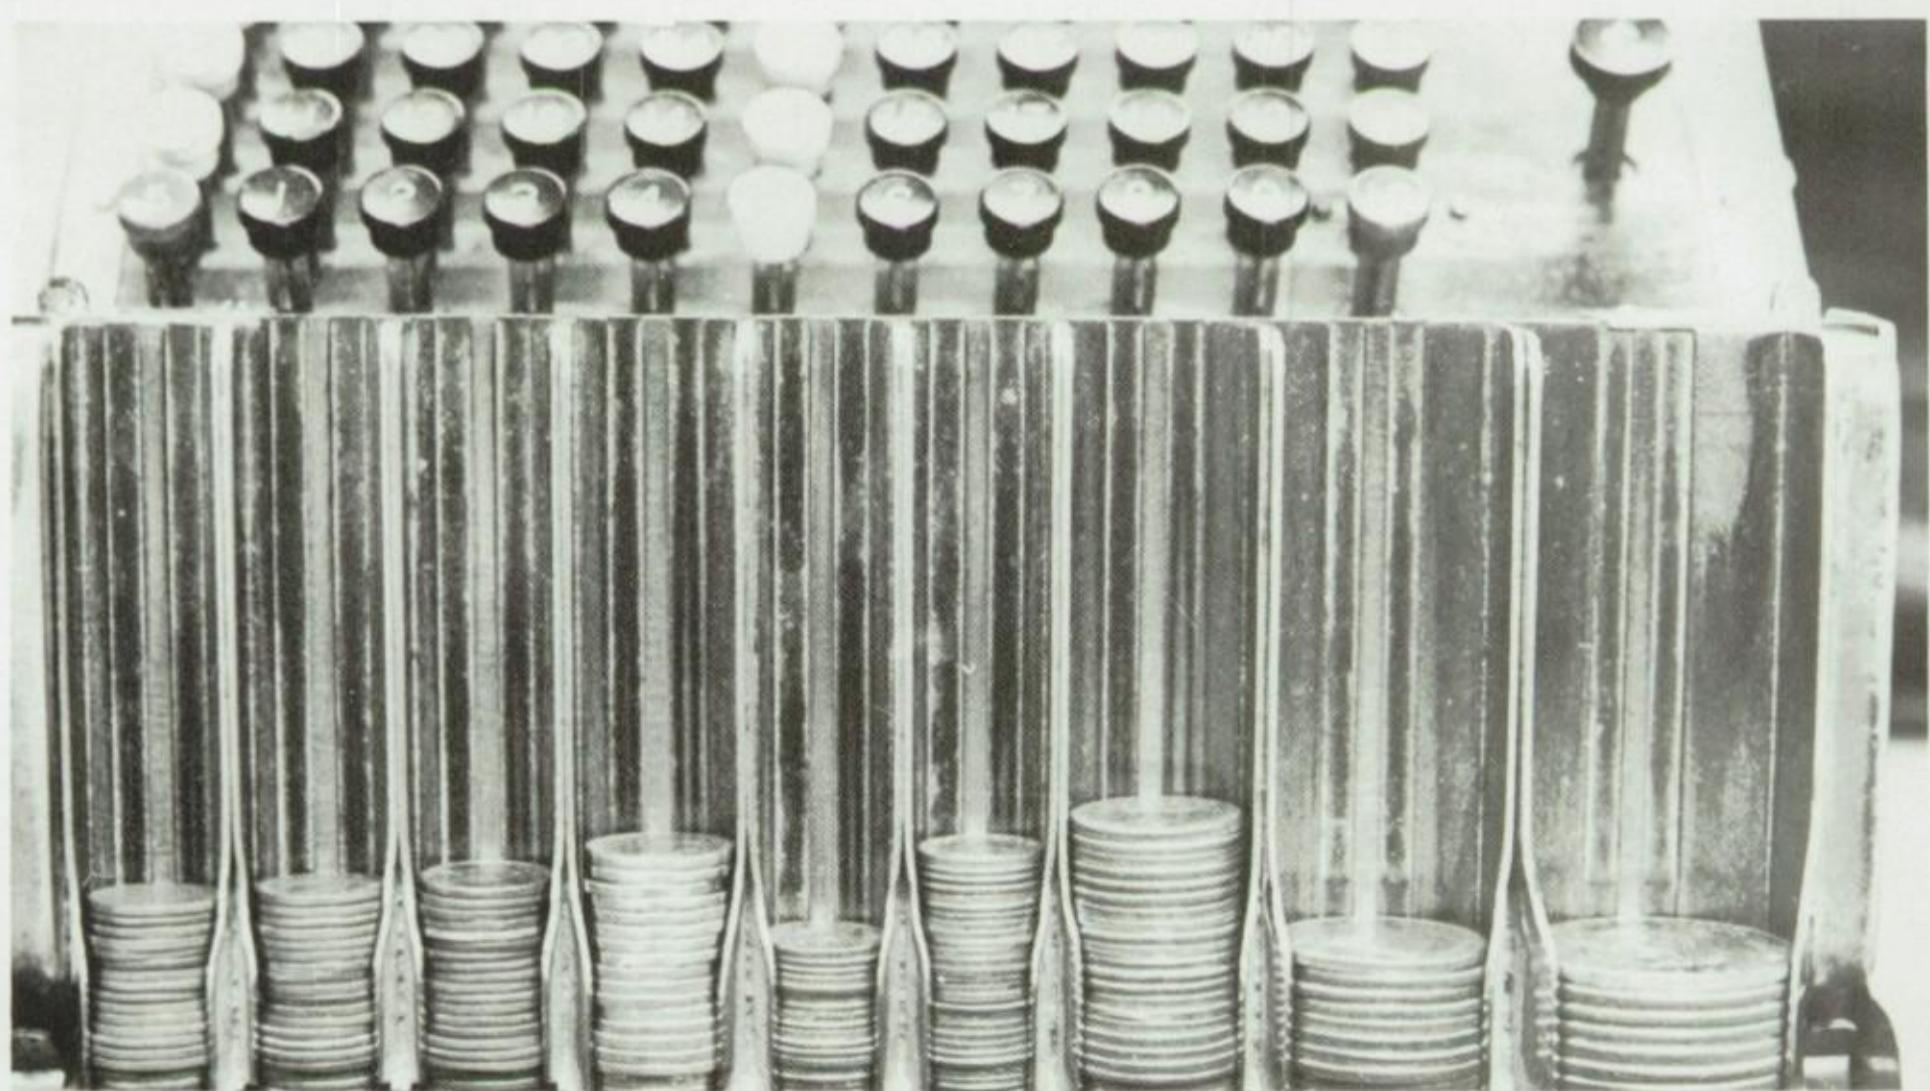

It wasn't the national happenings that always affected us but local happenings like Inman Fall Festival. The Fall Festival for classes was a good place for money-making projects like the sophomore class car smash.

The weather also affected the way we were. During the winter we were let out of school because of snow. We spent those three days having fun by tubing, sledding and ice skating.

Skate boards, a renewal fad in 1978, brought pleasure to students Davy Martens and Bill Davenport as they rolled down Freshman Hall.

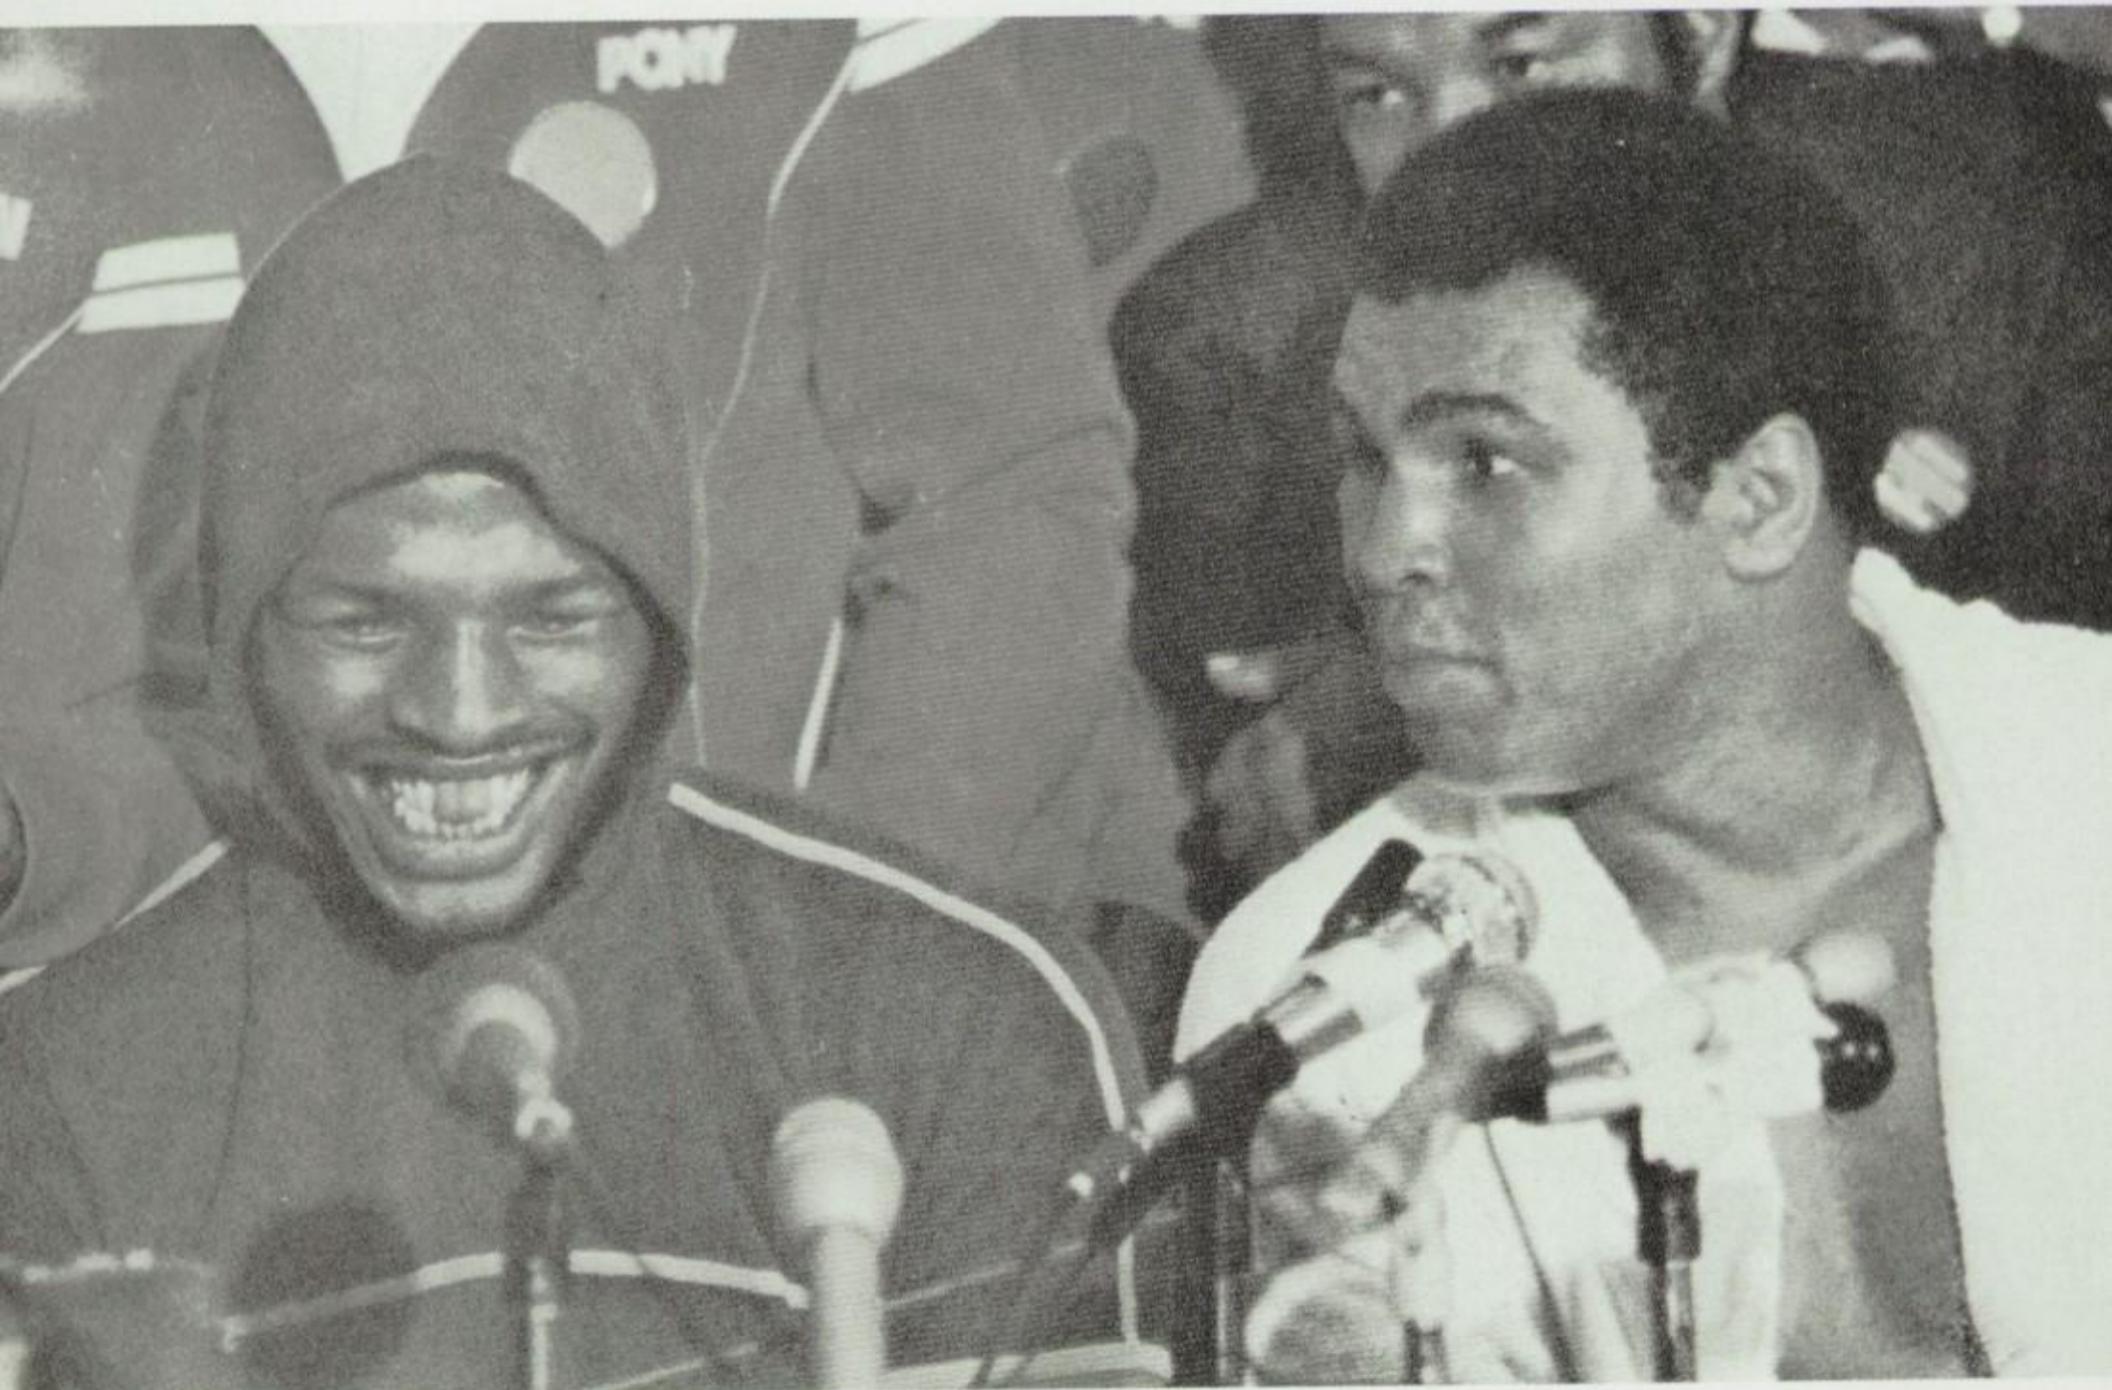

BRAUN AUTOMATIC CASHIER

The spring months involved America's concern with the dropping value of the dollar in European countries. We were taken back by the rise in price of their products.

The model Cheryle Tiegs began to publicize herself to become the new sex symbol. During the first of the year she had sold over a million copies of her bathing suit poster.

Leon Spinks, unknown heavyweight boxer, affected our lives when he fought and defeated the great Muhammad Ali, in a championship match.

Unified School District #448 was involved in a controversial issue of prayer and Bible readings in school. In 1963, the Supreme Court ruled that prayer and Bible reading in schools was unconstitutional and should be abolished. But locally it had never been challenged, until a patron voiced his concern to follow the law.

With all of the publicity and pressure the School Board was forced to change the procedure and follow the state guidelines of silent meditation.

Classrooms echo with prayer

INMAN — It's an everyday occurrence for students at Inman Grade School to say the Lord's Prayer, listen to scripture verses in their morning classes and bow their heads in prayer before eating lunch.

Superintendent Jack Parker says the practice has been going on "from Day 1," despite Supreme Court rulings in 1962 and 1963 banning religious activities in schools.

"Our community has strong objection to the prayers because "it's unconstitutional." He cited constitutional guarantees of freedom of religion and separation of church and state.

"This isn't a religious issue to me," Smith said. "I just want them to abide by the law."

Smith, who is a member of the Andover

Parker said the board could split again on the prayer issue, if it is brought to a vote Thursday night. If the issue fails, Smith said he would vote against it.

Parker said —

Patrons support school praying

By Carolyn Olson

INMAN — Few patrons of the Inman school district seemed in favor of proposed discontinuation of prayer and Bible readings at their grade school. The issue of school prayer was discussed at a school board meeting Tuesday night, attended by about 35 members of USD 448. At the end of the meeting, the board requested further study of the prayer issue before making a decision.

Grade school principal Lee Heidebrecht said prayers and Bible readings are said in a majority of the classrooms at the grade school, either during morning opening exercises or before lunch and in some instances at both times.

The school board was discussing the prayer issue after a district patrol, Wayne Smith, objected to the prayers, saying they were unconstitutional.

The Constitution guarantees freedom of religion, and separation of church and state. According to Supreme Court rulings in 1962 and 1963, religious activities in schools were banned. However, some states, including Kansas, have adopted legislation allowing religious principles and adherence to the law. But where do personal feelings fit in with both?

After 1½ hours of discussion of the prayer issue by patrons, the board went into an executive session with its attorney, William Swearer, to discuss two issues, according to I

He said the attorney would determine what is permissible under Supreme Court rulings concerning school prayers and the legal liabilities if prayers continued to be allowed at the school.

Gary Belknap, an Inman High School student, asked the board if they voted to continue prayer, would they "be taken to court?" Doris Ridge, board president, said "the possibility exists," and then Belknap asked the crowd, "Are you ready to back them up?" The question brought applause from the crowd.

Raymond Osborne, an Inman businessman, said, "Sometimes laws infringe on the rights of others, but we should have prayer in the schools if the majority wants it."

One man who spoke with some reservation about prayer in the schools was Harry Hartman, pastor of the Board president Ridge said Kansas law allows for "periods of silence" in the classrooms at the opening of the day, provided they are not religious exercises. They are to be either silent prayer or a reflection.

We asked the crowd what they thought of that concept, and several people disapproved.

Bill Hartman, another patron, said he didn't think many students would pray under those circumstances.

Honored royalty represent Inman at May Day celebration

Queen Deann Suderman and Prince Charming Wes Regehr represented Inman's royalty at the annual May Day celebration.

They were honored at the McPherson May Fete on May 10 and 11. The theme for the occasion was "Friends, Flowers, & Fantasies" with pastel colors blue, pink, green and yellow.

The next day Deann and Wes, along with the other McPherson county royalty, were honored in the May Day Parade.

Also a traditional May Day assembly was held by StuCo honoring the royalty on Thursday. The program ended with a "This is Your Life" presentation by friends and families.

The theme chosen was "Today is a Moment, But Memories Last Forever" with the colors red, orange and yellow.

Assemblies held by StuCo provide entertaining events

Under the leadership of Gary Belknap the school year proved to be a successful one for StuCo. As the year began the StuCo officers attended League StuCo Conference at Lindsborg and a workshop at Emporia.

StuCo sponsored most of the assemblies held throughout the year including the Christmas, Easter and May Day assemblies. StuCo sponsored other acts such as Mark Mennis, Sandy Ross, "I'm a Bankrobber", a ventriloquist, Hutchinson School of Karate and the Straub Family. StuCo also held activities including a Halloween film, Talent Day, spook pals and an all school picnic.

Future Homemakers grow in unity, strength and change

The Future Homemakers of America (FHA) can be explained with several expressions: fulfilling, exciting and different. Fulfilling because the Chapter grew more organized by doing such things as the Arthritis Drive, attending the Fall Conference held in Hutchinson and the District G elections where Sylvia Klassen was elected District treasurer.

Excitement filled the air with Daddy Date Night, the Wichita shopping trip and the annual Installation and Style Show. The highlight of the year was the State meeting at Topeka. After attending the meeting the girls went shopping at the White Lakes Mall.

The Mother-Daughter Banquet was changed to a salad supper which differed from previous years. Other areas that were different was the Mock Homecoming. This year it was in the form of an "Almost Anything Goes". As part of the impact project a big sister-little sister program was started.

Through all these projects FHA grew in unity and strength.

The freshmen representative was Bill Davenport escorted by Terri

Willems. Darrell Schrag represented the sophomores and was escorted by Cindy Stucky. Representing the junior class was Virel Baerg escorted by Lisa Drassen.

The Senior royalty chosen for the evening were Randy Ediger escorted by Larene Welch, Ken Blew escorted by Vicki Davenport and Rusty Johnson escorted by Roberta Evans.

The evening began when Rusty Johnson was browned king and given the traditional kiss by Vicki Davenport. He was then accompanied by his court to the throne where they watched the girls compete in their version of “Almost Anything Goes.”

Leapfrog, three-legged race, pie eating contest, ski game and a balloon toss were some of the games played. Faculty members participated as coaches, referees and officials. The winning team was the Trocious Trolls.

Future Farmer chapter yields State Farmers

"50 Years a Golden Past a Brighter Future" was the National FFA slogan for the year. The Inman FFA worked under this slogan to achieve it's many goals and honors for the year.

The 1978 Southcentral Leadership School was held at Buhler. The Inman FFA placed second in the Ritual Contest, second in the Parliamentary Procedure Contest and Dale Loepf and Wes Regehr made the Master Ritual Team.

The FFA and FHA co-sponsored a party in the Fall with a hayrack ride and wiener roast as the highlight of the evening.

During the State Fair at Hutchinson the Inman FFA worked in conjunction with other FFA chapters to host the Kiddies Barnyard.

During November, the officers, two greenhands, Kevin Wiens and Donovan Neufeldt and the aggie advisor, Mr. Ron Stucky traveled to Kansas City where they attended the National FFA Convention. Highlights of the convention were the American Royal Rodeo and an appearance by Crystal Gayle.

Jo Andersen, Randy Ediger, Jay Wiens and Richard Fast were awarded the State Farmers Award. Only two percent of the state received this honor and the winners received a degree at the State FFA Convention in June.

National FFA Week was held February 19-25. The Inman FFA Chapter participated by attending church together at the Inman Mennonite Church and later in the week, they took a tour of the Hesston Cooperation.

The annual Slave Auction was held March 13. Proceeds from the Slave Auction helped finance the Parent-Member Banquet.

Two FFA members Kevin Krehbiel and Roger Whitlock won a weeks paid tour of Europe sponsored by the Kansas Farmer magazine sale.

Throughout the year the aggies attended various judging contests.

I-Club achieves goals; honors outstanding lettermen

Members of I-Club enjoyed a fall picnic at Kanopolis Lake as they planned the year's goals.

Early in the year the constitution was changed to let students lettering in both music and debate eligible to join.

In October the group went to Arrowhead Stadium in Kansas City and enjoyed watching the Chiefs play against the Baltimore Colts.

This year marked the first year for the I-Club Formal which was held at the Holidome in Hutchinson. The speaker for the evening was Rev. Gardner and later the club was entertained by the Buhler Jazz Band. Members decided that this will be an annual event.

Spirit-teers add spirit, pride in first year

Members enrolled in band had a full year planned with many activities for the school and community.

At the beginning of the year they were chosen to march at the State Fair in Hutchinson. After their performance, the remaining day was spent enjoying the fair.

Both instrumental and vocal groups held a fall, winter and spring concert during the year.

Pep band, along with their director Mr. Mark DeWald, was kept busy playing at the pep assemblies and also most of the home games.

The band competed for the first time in three years at the MKL instrumental contest at Moundridge. They received good ratings from the judges. The brass sextet, trumpet quartet, trombone quartet and the percussion quartet ensembles also competed and all earned superior ratings. Susan Drassen played a baritone solo and received a highly superior rating.

At State Contest, Drassen and John Benorden received superior ratings on their baritone solos. The Brass Sextet was awarded a superior rating and the Percussion Quartet a good rating.

A new group added along with the band to help promote spirit at IHS. The Spirit-teers performed at both the football and basketball games. They were guest performers at two of the Buhler 3A Sub-State Basketball Tournament games.

The girls were chosen last spring and worked hard during the summer months selling fireworks to buy outfits and go to summer camp.

Vocal students rated "highly superior" at State

The choir, along with Vocal Express, spent their first two months rehearsing songs for the Fall Concert held on Oct. 20. The musical, "Li'l Abner", was also presented by the music department in November.

The Christmas program was special because the old gym was decorated with medieval banners, shields and a rustic atmosphere. The old English Christmas drink, Wassail, was served while the choir sang the toast for a good year to the audience.

January through April were spent preparing for League and State Music Contest. March 21 held excitement for the music department as League was held at Inman. There were six soloists, more than in previous years in addition to vocal ensembles that competed.

State Music Contest was held at Emporia, April 21 and 22. The months of hard work paid off when the Choir and Vocal Express both received three I ratings. The Girls Triple Trio also received a I. The Brass Sextet was awarded a II and Percussion Quartet, III.

The Spring Concert was held on April 13. Everyone performed their numbers which they had prepared for contest.

Several students in the choir traveled to Great Bend High School to view the Variety Show and prepare for Inman's show, May 9. They also traveled to Lindsborg to hear the Kansas City Philharmonic orchestra.

For their last performance the choir sang "You Light up my Life" and "Send us thy Heavenly Hight" for graduation.

Capp retires characters; cast portrays comic roles

Characters created by Al Capp, famed cartoonist, came alive Nov. 17 and 18 as Li'l Abner opened at IHS. Capp had announced in October that he would retire from making the famous syndicate cartoon, thus making the musical timely and a tribute to Capp.

As the play opened the U.S. Government was searching for a place to test nuclear bombs and decide Dogpatch to be the most unnecessary place in the world. The only necessary thing was Yokumberry tonic which gave Abner great strength.

In order to monopolize on the tonic, General Bullmoose entered Appassionata, his personal secretary, to catch Abner in the Sadie Hawkins Day Race and then marry him. The race ended as Bullmoose planned and Abner was to be wed to Appassionata.

Mammy conjured a vision that revealed the plot to kill Abner and the Dogpatchers invade Bullmoose's mansion and made his plans backfire. The Dogpatchers returned home and were surprised but happy when Earthquake backs out of the marriage. Abner in turn claims Daisy for his bride.

Dogpatch is saved when the Statue of Jublication T. Cornpone empties a proclamation that Dogpatch is a national shrine.

Forensics develops talent; squad achieves honors

The 1977-78 version of the Inman forensics squad had a lot of novices but developed into one of the finest squads in recent years.

The team attended three invitational tournaments, as well as league and regionals. The squad placed third at league with four events placing in the top three.

There were a total of 12 events qualified for state competition, 10 of which received a first division rating at regionals.

State competition, held at Wichita State University, was a successful day for most of the squad. Gary Belknap, Rod Petrotti, Sandy Sawyer, Dale Loepp, Susan Regehr and Larene Welch all received superior ratings. Those receiving second division ratings were Matt Howell, Vicki Davenport, Lisa Drassen, Mike Voth and Gary Belknap. Robert Ewing received a third division rating.

Yell leaders chosen after long wait

Pep Club had an unusual year as they started the first fifteen weeks of school without any cheerleaders. This predicament was caused by a lack of interest and a ruling which was established last spring that any girl out for sports could not be a cheerleader.

Due to pressure caused by the circumstance Pep Club decided to choose four yell leaders. Tryouts were held and Laurie Neufeld, Fay Woods, Brenda Riffel and Tracie Johnson were chosen as yell leaders.

Pep Club had many activities to help boost the school spirit throughout the year. Posters decorated halls and players lockers occasionally during the sports season. Selling Teuton shirts and having concessions were money making projects. To help boost the spirit of Homecoming, Pep Club sponsored Spirit Weeks with an orange day, inside out day, clash day and dress up day.

The Athletic Banquet finished off the year by recognizing both athletes and Pep Club members by issuing letters for achievements.

Journalists record events; provide media for students

This year both the yearbook and newspaper classes were combined into one to form a journalism class which met every day during fourth hour.

After many hours of critiquing other papers and studying newspaper skills, the staff put out its first bi-weekly edition of the Jivin' Teuton. Its purpose was to inform students of the events happening or affecting the students of IHS.

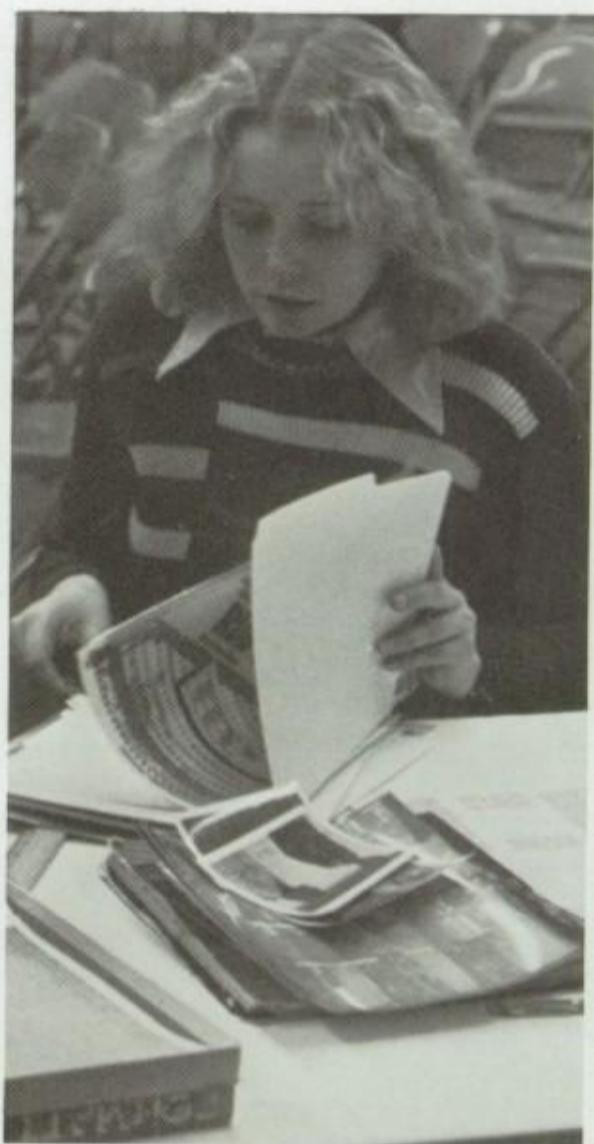

Throughout the year, many new techniques were used to add variety and to acquaint the class with different skills. Special effort was put into the issues printed near holidays and homecomings.

"The Way We Were" was the theme chosen for the 1977-78 yearbook by the staff as they reminisced memories of the school year. Many hours of hard work and planning were spent preparing the layouts for each page of the book. The staff also sold ads to local merchants and held concessions at several games to help meet the cost of the yearbook.

In October, the staff traveled to Topeka where they took a guided tour of the Josten American Yearbook Company and the Topeka Capital Journal.

Dale Loepp took first place in newswriting and Connie Bengston had two second places in Graphic Design and Newspaper Makeup at the regional contest of the Kansas Scholastic Press Association Journalism Day at Wichita.

Board handles controversies; Staff, prayer major issues

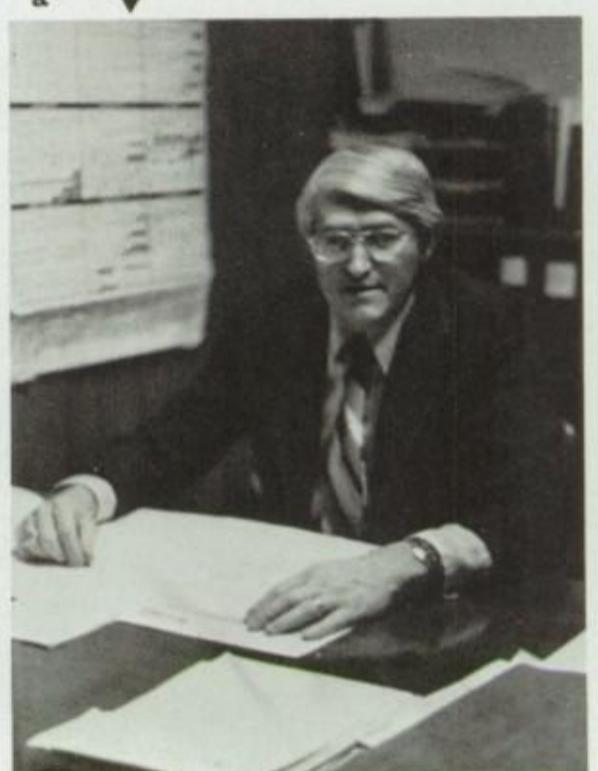

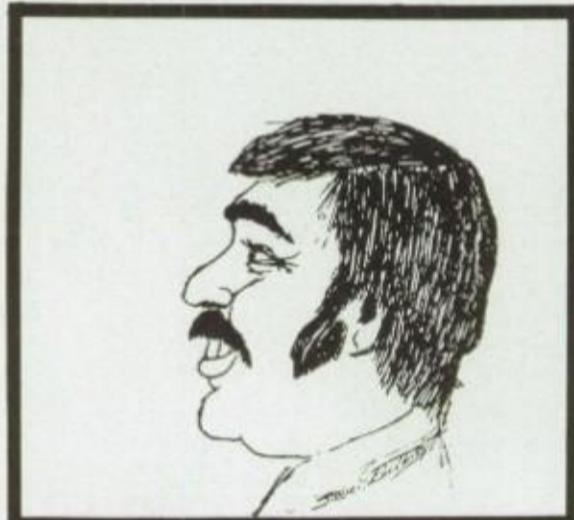

Administration plays an important part in the direction of education. There were many controversial issues acted upon by the school board, superintendent and principal.

There was much conflict over staff positions and the way the school board handled the various situations. In most cases, the true wishes of the district patrons were ignored and a few individuals made major decisions.

The other issue of controversy involved the prayer issue. After careful consideration, the school board decided to discontinue mandatory prayer in school and abide by the law as set by the Supreme Court.

College students educate; gain experience for future

Completing their education at Inman High School were an unusually high number of student teachers. With them came new ideas and teaching methods for many departments of IHS. A total of six teachers from area colleges came to instruct in the P.E., Science, English, Home Economics and Art departments.

Student or practice teaching allowed the prospective teachers to teach in an actual classroom setting. During their stay, most teachers were evaluated by both evaluators and students to show the students their weaknesses and strengths as they prepared for their careers.

Teachers reflect on events that made memorable year

As the Faculty looked back at "The Way We Were" in 1977 and 1978, they recalled the uniqueness of the school year and what made it special.

Mr. Cochran, "Watching the girls go to Sub-state was an exciting experience for me. Also, for the first time in a long time, we hosted a track meet without rain. Talk of getting a new school is certainly something new for Inman. For myself, being a class sponsor was something different."

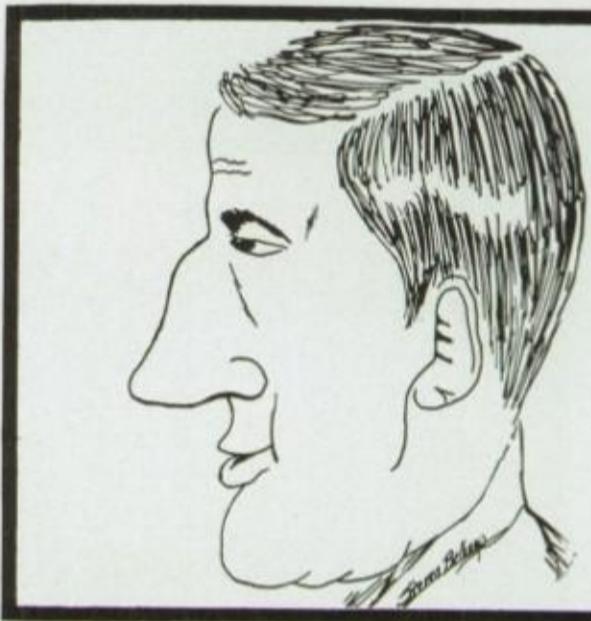

Mr. DeWald, "This has been a year of considerable growth for the areas of music and journalism. It's been rewarding to have the majority of students involved with my programs and changes in the school. 'The Way We Were' reflects the students' concern to improve the quality of music and the publications; with the students' effort, it has made teaching profitable despite a few people's power to make decisions."

Mr. Ewert, "Having entire control of the social studies department was a new experience for me. I really enjoyed teaching American History because it's my favorite subject. Hosting a debate tournament was also a new experience. As I have never been a class sponsor before, being senior class sponsor was a new and thoroughly enjoyable experience for me."

Mrs. Colleen Gearhart, "Two things I appreciated this past year were: Having the salad plate at lunch and not having to put on a play or musical. Less responsibility in the drama department gave me more time to spend at home with my family. I enjoyed working with the class of '79 and was glad to work with a class with money. Talk about a new school has also given the school a chance to build spirit and morale.

Mr. Steve Henning, "I thought that the classes were pretty good because of their superior conduct and cooperation. I feel that I really got to know the seniors and was glad to have followed them throughout all four years of high school. I also thought that the conduct and leadership has progressively gotten better which is a very encouraging sign."

Mrs. Joan Johnson, "I've really appreciated the senior class as a whole and thought that their leadership was a great improvement. Since this was my second year I felt a lot more comfortable with the students. The new principal was also a change and I've also appreciated Mrs. Sawyer who was a nice addition to our school."

Miss Rapp, "I noticed a big difference in the kids from where I taught last year. They are more grown-up and well behaved. The year was also different for me because it gave me a chance to build a physical education program at the high school as well as at the grade school."

Mr. Sager, "The leadership and examples set by the seniors were better than they have been in past years. They showed responsibility and helped out whenever they could. The year was also one of achievement. The student body did a lot of things that would have normally gone unrecognized."

Mrs. McClelland, "My Spanish class was larger than last year, which is nicer because it makes it easier to communicate. My general math class was smaller and allowed for more individual attention. I also enjoyed teaching much more than last year because it was my second year and I knew a lot more of the kids."

Miss Kneller, "I thought it was a very good year. All my students seemed to be more responsive than in past years. My American Literature class was smaller and allowed for more individual attention. I also thought all the students showed more leadership and responsibility than in past years.

I have really appreciated the outstanding students I have had to work with. I also thought that this years' leadership, especially in StuCo was superior than previous years.

Mr. Ron Stucky, "Something new this year for Inman High and its FFA chapter is its four new State Farmers. Our FFA officers have exhibited exceptional leadership by winning third place at the district leadership school. I also have appreciated the senior class and I think it is the best we have had in a long time.

Mr. Russell Stucky, "This year I've really enjoyed teaching more because I knew a lot more of the kids. I also think that Inman has made a great many advances in its sports program and in my own science department.

Also marking the year was the retirement of Mr. Irvin Voss head custodian. Mr. Voss has served the high school for 29 years and was presented the Building Our American Community award for community service by the FFA.

Mr. Vernon Zimmerman, long time assistant custodian, faithfully worked along with Mr. Voss during the past years.

Homecoming festivities “light up” Jan’s life

“You Light Up My Life,” accented with the colors cream and royal blue, was the theme for the 1977 Football Homecoming held on October 7.

The festivities began with an afternoon assembly held for the royalty and their escorts with Rod Petrocci as Master of Ceremonies. After the three candidates had presented a poem, Mr. Sager sang the song “If” for the girls.

Then the surprise came for everyone as Barry Stucky, captain for the game, placed the crown on Jan Yoder and gave her the traditional kiss.

Following the assembly, a parade was held in honor of Queen Jan and her attendants.

The ceremony was then repeated that night in front of a home audience. Bonnie Peterson, last year's Homecoming queen, returned to relinquish her crown. Although everyone knew who had been chosen queen, it was still just as exciting for everyone to see again.

Jan's attendants were seniors Anne Bengston, escorted by Steve Shuff and Kay Neufeld, escorted by Wes Regehr. The junior attendant, Debbie Davenport, was escorted by Jay Wiens. Laurie Neufeldt, escorted by Ken Blew, was the Sophomore attendant. Freshman attendant was Sharity Thomas, escorted by Richard Fast. Along with the royalty was Kim Froese, flower girl, and Michael Stull, crown bearer.

After the game a dance was held with music provided by disc jockey Bob Hapgood.

The team consisted of 26 players and improved from the previous year. Out of the 26, 16 were returning players.

Pretty Prairie where they tied for third.

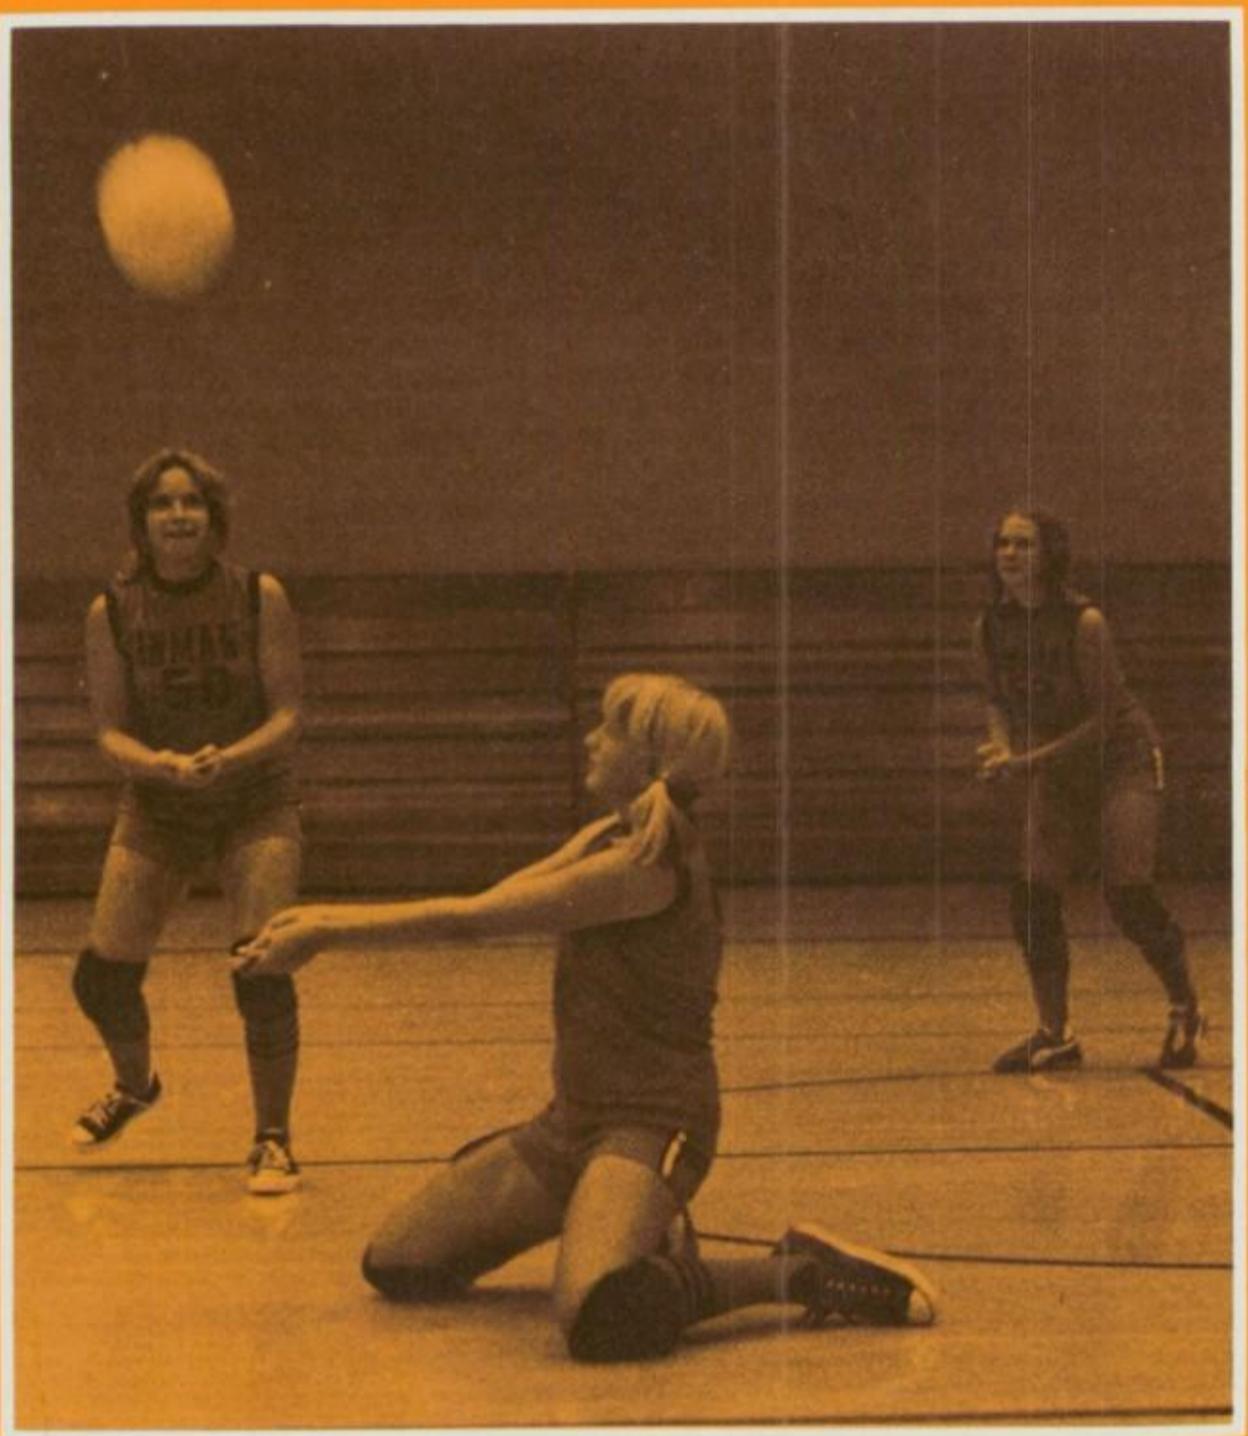

The team was led by nine experienced Seniors: Anne Bengston, Connie Bengston, Vicki Davenport, Kay Neufeld, Starla Osborn, Deann Suderman, Jan Yoder, Naomi Speicher, and Danen Thomas. Basketball team gains momentum at St. John

The Varsity Basketball Team recovered from a slow season and captured second place at St. John Tournament. This was the second consecutive year that Inman has lost the championship game to the Pratt Greenbacks.

The boys lost to Goessel in the first round of the Regional tournament to complete their season. Despite the boys hard practice and enthusiasm, the team lacked the experience needed to win.

Kevin Achilles led the team in shooting with 14.83 per game and a total of 267 points in 18 games. He also led in freethrows with a 65.2 percent. Rex Williams led in the rebounds with a total of 147 in 19 games.

Kevin Achilles was named to the All-League Team.

Girls face heartbreakers; enthusiasm, spirit run high

The Inman Teutonettes closed their season losing a heartbreaker game against Udall 42-41. A win would have given them a berth at State. To make it to Sub-State the girls took first place at Regional Tournament defeating Hamilton, Burrton and Trinity.

The girls became a close-knit team learning more than the basic fundamentals of playing basketball. Enthusiasm was high and the girls supported each other and their coach, Miss Donna Rapp. The team record boasted a winning season and went further than ever before reaching the finals at Sub-State after defeating LeRoy 43-40.

Deann Suderman and Lisa Drassen were named to the All-League team. Starla Osborn received Honorable Mention.

Tracksters face problems; still place high

Numerous injuries and lack of participants affected the track squad's performance in the nine track meets where they competed. The boys team stayed in the upper division ranks while the girls placed in the lower division due to a lack of interest and participation.

The Varsity Boys and Girls teams both took first places in the Little River Track Meet while the Freshman-Sophomore team collectively took third place at the St. John Invitational. In League, the boys took fourth and the girls placed seventh.

Thirteen students met the Regional standards on time and distance. Kevin Achilles was the only person to qualify for the State Track Meet by placing third in pole vaulting at Regional with a 12'9" height. This also set a new school record.

Achilles also took sixth place in Long Jump. Steve Shuff took fourth place in discus and Deb Davenport snagged two fifth places in Long Jump and the Open Quarter. Nancy Flickinger tied for fifth place in High Jump. Sixth place awards went to the Mile Relay and 440 Relay teams.

Juniors sell merchandise to finance annual prom

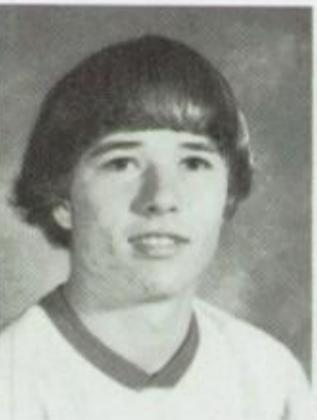

The smallest class in IHS was ambitious with many different money-raising projects. The main goal of the Juniors was to finance the prom and save money for their Senior trip.

They were busy with their projects which included a corn dog and taco stand at the Fall Festival, a paper drive, a chili supper and a Christmas wrapping paper sale. They also sponsored four concession stands for Football and Basketball. Also keeping them busy were the required classes such as American Literature, American History and Essay Writing.

Freshmen work, study and practice driving skills

No class has ever dared to ask for $7 class dues before the class of '81 came along. They had other money-raising projects such as cake walk and football throw at the annual Inman Fall Festival. Towards Christmas time they sold Christmas note cards.

Freshmen were obligated to take five out of the six required class for Freshmen. The most entertaining class is when they learned how to drive. One semester of P.E. and one semester of Health were also intriguing. English, Math and Science were also taken during the Freshmen year in high school.

a. Sharity Thomas is ready, willing and waiting for Mr. Warren Sager, so she can practice driving skills.

Homecoming, card sales involve freshman class

a. The Freshmen decorated their hall for Football Homecoming in purple and pink streamers and flowers. Other decorations included a blacklight booth with the Freshmen's candidate name, Sharity, lit up and other posters.

b. Mrs. Becky McClelland patronizes Freshmen Pam Lackey and Kevin Hawkinson by buying a box of note cards which were sold first semester.

As you have passed through these pages, we hope fond memories have filled your mind. Memories of the good and the bad, of happy or sad, with what ever memories may it fill your heart with joy to remember the way we were.

We end with a poem "Memories Locked in Time" by Patty Bornholdt. As you read it, we hope we have kept and locked those memories in this book.

MEMORIES LOCKED IN TIME

Time ...
Where did it go?
Gone with dreams
Because there is so little time
And so much left to say ...
Live for today.

Memories of pleasant dreams
With hope that someday maybe one,
Just one, will bloom.
And then when the dream becomes reality
It is locked in eternity.

Time ...
Where did it go?
Gone with dreams
Because there is so little time
Live for today.

And now that today is almost over
You will have to face new dreams.
Dreams of a new tomorrow.
But hold fast to old dreams and fond memories
That are locked within eternities.

Time ...
Where did it go?
Gone with dreams
Because there is so little time
And so much left to say ...
Live for today.
